USSR-Berlin: Khrushchev indicated in a speech on 18 August that Moscow still prefers a negotiated settlement of the German and Berlin questions and reiterated that failure to reach agreement will lead to a separate treaty with East Germany. The Soviet premier again avoided setting any deadline, however, and suggested that for the present Moscow intends to continue negotiating rather than take any unilateral action that could bring the situation to a head. After returning to Bonn from Moscow, the Soviet ambassador reportedly stated on the same day as Khrushchev's speech that there is "no definite date" for conclusion of a separate treaty and that Moscow expects further talks between Rusk and Dobrynin.

Moscow may be considering an initiative on Berlin and Germany at the UN General Assembly next month. Khrushchev repeated proposals to replace Western occupation forces with "UN troops" and admit East and West Germany to the UN. In ruling out a solution based on the presence of NATO forces, Khrushchev presumably referred to a UN force composed exclusively of NATO troops. A member of the Soviet UN delegation told a US official on 17 August that a "UN solution" for Berlin, with NATO and Warsaw Treaty forces stationed there, ought to be acceptable to the US. The Soviet delegate said he did not know whether Khrushchev would attend the UN session.

Congo: Fighting between Congolese and Katangan forces, which broke out last week south and west of Albertville, has died down. In line with UN representative Gardiner's note to Katangan Foreign Minister Kimba warning of possible UN intervention if the gendarmerie continued hostilities, the UN Command is reported redeploying its forces in northern Katanga. Assistant Secretary General Bunche has notified US officials in New York that the UN probably will request "some limited internal" US airlift assistance for this redeployment. [] Gardiner has also confirmed that for the first time a Congolese battalion--one of the Congo's best units--will be incorporated into UN forces.

[] A Katangan mission which reportedly went to Angola earlier this month to arrange with Portuguese officials for military support for Katanga, including arms and ammunition, claims to have been successful. []

France: [The Secret Army Organization (OAS) has reportedly been planning renewed operations in France. An OAS terrorist network leader arrested in mid-July is said to have had in his possession papers outlining plans for his group to resume attacks, including assassination attempts, in September. An incident on 17 August, in which an armed group dressed in paratroop uniforms seized weapons and ammunition at a security police barracks near Paris, is attributed to the OAS by French officials.]

[Much rightist activity in the past has been the work of uncoordinated groups or individuals, but efforts to organize and direct it are being made by the "Council of National Resistance" abroad, headed by Bidault, Soustelle, and ex-colonel Argoud. The half million disgruntled European refugees from Algeria increase OAS capabilities for trouble-making in France.] [redacted]
